

Introduction: Alexander Leibner

[pronounced Laib-ner]

Here's a vital question: if you knew everything about tomorrow, what would you do differently today?

This is the question our next speaker will challenge you with.

Alexander Leibner is no ordinary futurist. And he foresees no ordinary future. Appointed as a Futurist to Faith Popcorn's BrainReserve, Alexander's presentations are honed by thousands of hours of experience, both in-front of audiences and on live television, for the past 20-years, underpinned by unrivaled global insights.

His energetic, entertaining and informative exploration of the world of tomorrow ensures an extraordinary experience for his audiences around the world, both in German and English. He assists companies and organisations get the vital vision they require to prepare for a prosperous future, with confidence and expectation.

He believes that we can unlock a plethora of potential through vision and that the future can be incredible if we choose it to be.

Learn to flourish in an age of unequaled r/evolution. Please help me to welcome Alexander Leibner!

